Supply Chain Review

Overview

As soon as you transfer personal data to a third party you take on compliance and information security risks that need to be adequately managed.

A supply chain review identifies data protection and information security compliance risks and gaps within your organisation's supply chain of data processing and sharing arrangements.

Supply Assurance

The GDPR increased the penalties and prospect of compensation for personal data breaches. These risks have naturally led to increased litigation chains where the blame for personal data breaches and security failings is pinned on the weakest link within the supply chain.

You should undertake a supply chain review to ensure this is not your organisation. You need to ensure that appointed processors and their sub-processors are reliable and safe to be trusted with your data. Our supply chain review can provide that assurance. Getting it wrong can be costly.

Why choose us?

We are specialists in Data Protection and Information Security. Our team has decades of practical experience and a proven track record of identifying and mitigating risks so you can be sure you are in the safest hands.

How can we help you?

Your organisation's suppliers and their security weaknesses are potentially an unseen vulnerability. It is critical that data controllers have guaranteed their suppliers are processing personal data lawfully and securely. Our supply chain review will provide you with peace of mind.

Management processes

We will review your existing policies and processes for selecting, appointing, managing, and de-commissioning data processing and data sharing arrangements. We will make recommendations to ensure that these processes are effective in meeting your obligations under data protection law and efficient for your organisation.

Compliance review

We will review the data protection and information security practices at each of your suppliers, reviewing their governance arrangements, security practices and capabilities.

Remediation

After we have completed our review, our technical consultants can work with you and your suppliers to fix the issues identified –a process known as remediation. This remediation work not only limits the likelihood and impact of personal data breaches, it provides you with evidence of GDPR compliance.
